DAY OF TRIAL FIXED PEREMPTO-RILY FOR OCTOBER 26.

PAILURE OF SEVERAL OF THE INDICTED PARTIES TO APPEAR-MR. WHITLEY AP-PEARS BY COUNSEL - DETERMINATION OF THE COURT TO PROCEED WITH TRIAL. At the opening of the Criminal Court yesterday a large crowd attended, that being the day fixed for a final determination of the day upon which the trial of the indictments for conspiracy in the safe-burglary case would be fixed.

Judge Humphreys took his sent at noon, and the court was opened. Judge H. immediately called the case of the United States vs. Whitley and others, and said to Mr. Riddle, who sat immediately in front of him, "Are you ready, Mr. Riddle, to fix a time for trial in these cases?"

Mr. Riddle. If the Court will permit me, since the meeting of the court at which it was agreed to fix definitely to-day a time for the trial of these causes, I have addressed myself diligently to the preparation of the case, at least so far as obtaininformation of the whereabouts of parties, &c., and when I saked to delay the matter until to-day I expected that by this time all or nearly all of those indicted would have either come or have been brought to an appearance. Five yet remain without appearance. I had hoped that by to-day their appearance would be entered, for Il four have been heard from, (five including Hayes,) as I learn that on Friday one appeared in New York and offered to give ball; and I also had assurances from Hiram C. Whitley that he would appear here to-day. Gen. S. S. Henkle. Mr. Riddle, I represent

Mr. Whitley, but I do not want to interrupt your Mr. Riddle. Is he here?

Gen. Henkle. No. str. Mr. Riddle, (continuing.) I am new certain that seme of the parties can be reached and brought here only by the stringent processes of the law, and that, of course, will occupy some time; and while every effort will be used to obtain their attendance, yet, as at present advised, should not be willing to enter upon the trial of this case under four weeks from this day. By that time I will have made all preparations that can be made. If the Court would name Monday or Tuesday in the third week of October, I will be ready to try this case. I could not, with due regard to the public, set an earlier day. I am personally as anxious as any one can be to discore of this case. for it takes my entire time.

Mr. Davidge said he had no doubt that Mr. Riddle was using all diligence to bring this case to a trial, but the causes of delay were beyond his control, as he had just stated. If any of these defendants will stand out until coerced by legal process to appear, the case may not be brought to rial this term, nor the next, nor yet the next, There is no difficulty in any one of the non-resi-dent's prolonging the hearing of this case beyond the present term. A hobees cornus could be obtained, and on that an appeal taken to a District Court, and so delay added to delay. I am told by counsel that Mr. Whitley would want the case to go over the term, and this may be the case with ethers of the defendants. Two of the defendants have given ball here, in view of the fact that they reside here and desire to have the case heard as speedily as possible. I have come to the conclusion to ask your Honor to designate the day mentined by Mr. Riddle, and to allow the defendants, Mr. Harrington and Mr. Williams, to server in the trial. This ought the more readily to be granted, as it is now certain that all the others will not be here on that day. I, therefore, move that Mesurs. Harrington and Williams be allowed sever, and that their trial be fixed peremptorily

The Court. I cannot hear that motion at this time. (To Mr. Henkle.) Mr. Whitley has not yet appeared. Mr. Riddle, I think Mr. Whitley should appear in person before he appears by sounsel. General Henkle was sure that there was no desire on the part of Mr. Whitley to avoid trial, and proposed to read a letter from him.

The Court. You can state in short the sub-

General Henkle, I would prefer to read it. The Court. That would not be proper now. General Henkle. Then I will state that Mr. Whitley has unofficially learned that he has been indicted. His residence is in Hoston, and he is ready to enter into sufficient bail for his appearance. He of course needs time to prepare his de-fence, and does not desire an immediate trial, and wishes that the case may go over until next term. The Court. I cannot hear such applications until Mr. Whitley appears in person. If he wanted to avoid the regular process of the law, it was his duty to appear in court. I understand that the courtesy of the officers of this court has already agreed to be here to-day.

Mr. Davidge supposed that Mr. Whitley did not expect that his attendance would be needed until the trial.

Mr. Riddle. He has given personal assu ms I personally know, to be here to-day. Mr. Davidge, Oh, then, I beg pardon. The Court, I am making a ruling now. If parties wish to avoid arrest they must make their appearance in this court, otherwise the pro-It is the intention of the Court to be deliberate in all this matter at the same time I must be permitted to say that the law requires certain things which it is my duty to administer. It is the duty of all implicated or complicated in it by presentment to come forward for trial, but some of the parties do not appear as required by law. I don't say that it is intentional, it may be owing to a misapprehension; but after to-day it will be considered as an attempt to triffe with the court. That much for that point, Although it may seem slow in the opinion of some persons, I design that the case shall be proceeded with deliberately. Unless we proceed in that way, my experience is that justice cannot be done either to the accused or to the public. I am fully satisfied; and, gentlemen, I must be permitted to say that, having been entrusted with the conduct of this case, as it comes within my assignment, it it my duty to conduct it with dilligence, yet with tion. Public justice, public public quiet require a speedy investigation of this case, whether in full or in part. Every power known to the law will be used to bring to a speed; only tribunal that could present. As suggested by the counsel for the Government and concurred 20th of October (which is Tuesday) for this trial; at which time, if circumstances over which we The Court then stated the reasons which provented him from setting any other day, and then took up other cases, refusing to consider Mr. Mr. Davidge's motion for a severance until the case was called for trial.

THE EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.

MR. H. R. MILES HAS HENRY L. CRAW-FORD ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF

An account was published in THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN OF yesterday of the arrest of Hiram R. Miles on the charge of embezzlement, on the eath of H. L. Cranford, of the firm of Messrs, J. V. W. Vandenburg & Co., of fraudulently nego-tiating District securities of the firm to the amount of $24,000. Yesterday Mr. Miles appeared before Justice Samuel C. Mills, and procured a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Crawford, charging that he, a member of the firm of J. V. W. Vandenburg & Co., did, on the 18th day of September. 18/4, commit perjury in stating, un ier oath belove a justice of the peace, that said Miles was a clerk, agent or servant of Jarid V. W. Vandenburg & Co., and by virtue of such clerkship, service or agency and employment, received into his posscenion and care certain valuable securities be longing to said Vandenburg & Co., he (Crawford) knowing that said statement was false and untrue, such statement being material to obtain a warrant for the arrest of said Miles. Mr. Miles. sworn affidavit, sets forth that he never was the clerk, agent or servant of said Vandenburg & Co., and never was elerk or servant for aid firm or either member thereof; and never did by virtue of such clerkship or service receive into his possession any valuable securities belonging to said firm. That said Henry L. Crawford, on 18th of September, did will ully and corruptly make eath that he (Miles) was his clerk, and by virtue of such service received certain valuable securi-ties belonging to J. V. W. Vandenburg & Co., the said Crawford well knowing the same to be false; that said Miles was not at that or any other time elerk or agent of said firm, nor did he receive any such securities or effects under such pretext, and said Miles charges that Henry L. Crawford did commit willful perjury, contrary to the statute in such case made and provided. Detectives Sargent and McElfresh served the warrant, and took the accused to the Police Court, where he gave ball in the sum of $3,000 for his appearance tomorrow. There appears to be some complication n this case, which nothing but Judge Such can

The residence of Gen. Sherman, on I street, near Third, has been sold to ex-Mayor Emery by R. M. Hall, real estate broker, for $60,000. The lot is 115 feet on I street, with that width to K street 313 feet. It will be remembered that prior to his election to the Presidency this was the home of Gen. THE CHAMPIONSHIP ARENA. The rain of last week materially interfered with the progress of the professional champion-ship contests, and as the time is drawing near for the close of the season, all such delays will lesson the chance of completing the requisite number of matches constituting the full series of games to have been played. A MYSTERIOUS MURDER IN LEES. BURG, VA.

THE ACCUSED PARTIES ARRESTED IN THIS CITY. Yesterday morning Sheriff Wm. F. Berrett, of Leesburg, Va., visited police headquarters and stated that he was in search of certain parties who were suspected of having committed a murder in his town some five or six weeks ago, and that he desired assistance in procuring their arrest. He gave their names as Albert Shinar and Godfrey Shalhorn, and was confident, from the in-formation received, that they were located somewhere in the city. Detectives Miller and Mc-Devitt proffered their assistance, and the three visited the Police Court and procured the proper papers on which to arrest the accused. Shortly afterward it was ascertained that the partie were residing on Four-and-a-half street, near F street southwest, and found the men and tool them into custody. The officers did not arrive any too soon, for they found that the men had sold out their premises, packed their furniture and were nearly ready to decamp. They told the offiburg, but the peighbors said that they had said o them that they intended moving to New York

The two men were taken to police headquarters. where they remained until four o'clock yesterday alternoon, and then in company with Sheriff Berrett returned to Lecaburg. From a conversation with the sheriff a reporter of THE NATIONAL RE PUBLICAN obtained the following account of the supposed tragedy. It is merely supposition, for there is no positive evidence of the death of the man missing, although his departure and whereabouts are unknown since the night he was at the house of the accused. Shinar and Shalhorn are to bacconists by trade and were engaged in that busi ness at Leesburg.

In August last they had a German in their em ploy named Riley. He was known to have in h s sion a considerable sum of money but to to the daughter of Shalhorn, and it was believed the affection was returned by her; but suddenly and without explanation she married Shalhorn's partner, Shinar. There was also living in the iamily and who had been with them some time a young girl who had been overtrusting in one of the male members of the household, and approaching exposure and ruin appeared inevitable for her Shalhorn as the seducer of the girl, although it was strongly hinted that one of the others was the deceiver, and forced to marry her. The gir being under age, for which the Virginia laws does not allow marriage to be performed in that State, they were taken to Point of Rocks, Mary-land, a license procured at Frederick and the union solemnized, after which all returned to Leesburg. Riley remained a few days longer at the house and then suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. He was not seen to leave the town by any of the residents, and no account could be obtained of the family concerning his departure It was known, however, that on the las night he remained in Shalborn's house that there was a quarrel, and cries of "murder" were heard issuing therefrom, and on the morning following soon after daylight, Shalhorn drove a wagon up to the door, and with the help of Shinar, lifted out what resembled a large bundle, put it into the wagon and drove away. Where it was left or what it was has not yet been discovered. But from that time until the present Riley has not been seen or heard of. The sheriff further state that when the house was searched a suit of clothes, similar to those worn by Riley, was founhid away in a barrel and saturated with blood, The story of the mysterious disappearance orn and Shinar, threatened to sue the citizens of

Riley became circulated, and the parties, Shal-Leesburg for slander, but instead of doing so sold out, quit the town and came here. After Riles was missing, the girl that he had married re mained with the family, and appeared uncor perped as to his whereabouts, but when they roke up house-keeping she cleared out, and the Shalhorn's say she is in New York. The circum-stances connected with the affair show strong suspicion on the accused, but they feel confident of being able to prove their innocence of th charge of murder. FEARFUL WINDSTORM.

COLLAPSE OF BARNUM'S HIPPODROME On Sunday morning Baltimore was visited by a terrible windstorm by which Barnum's Hippo-drome was lifted from its anchorage, carried some distance, and the canvas lodged in trees. The Baltimore Sun of yesterday thus describes it unlike the terror to seamen known as the cyclone of the Chinese sea, burst upon the hippodrome, on Boundary avenue, and almost in an instant every inch of canvas covering the amphitheatre proper the stables, the hotel, (in which the hundreds o employees reside,) the dressing-rooms, side shows &c., with the poles sustaining the canvas, was carried up in the air, making a much more capi ascent than ever Prof. Donaldson dreamed o making with his balloon, even with a greater quantity of gas than could be supplied on Friday last. The blast of wind apparently came fro the south, and tore up everything before it, bu singular to say, did no damage to anything in the vicinity unconnected with the show. The numer-ous frame shantles put up temporarily as restaurants, dining salcons, &c., in the immediate vicinity were not injured in the least. The fere of the wind was so great that the canvas, with the three hundred and fifty quarter poles, which were jerked from the earth, were in an instan-lodged in the trees on the north of the inclosure The five centre poles, each nearly as large as a ship's mast, were leveled with the grou anchor which sustained the guy of the high wire on which M'ile Victoria makes her perilous ascent on the velocipede, fastened six feet below the surface, and which it was supposed that no ten locomotives could move, was drawn out as if it had been a pin, and in fact the interior of the arens presented a scene of utter devastation, nothing being left standing but the seats for the andience. Such was the force of the wind that four of the quarter poles that refused to leave mother earth were snapped off as if they had been mere sticks, and that portion attached to the canvas went up in the trees with the canvas. The five centre poles each measured seventy feet in length by twelve inches in thickness,

The available force of the hippodrome was in mediately set at work, and in less than an hou upwards of 300 men were engaged in getting the canvas down from the high trees, the limbs of which, it many cases, had to be cut off before the which, in many cases, had to be cut off before the men could operate. Subsequently additional men were put to work, and in less than two hours the canvas had been replaced over the valuable stud of horses, Mr. Castello seeming to bend all his energies to the comfort of the dumb animals. The canvas was found to be considerably torn, and all the available salimakers to be found in the city, some thirty in number, were also brought into requisition, and by nightfall the repairs had we far advanced as to render work at night un-becessary.

to far advanced as to render work at night un-becessary.

The canvas originally cost $15,000 and the damage by vesterday's blow is estimated at not less this $2,000. The seats in the arena are calculated to accommodate some $,000 people, and yet had hey all been filled and the cyclome occurred in the midst of the performance, no one would have been injured, unless by a stampede and general right to get out, as the wind just took the canvas and poles up in the air, entirely clear of the seath and lodged among the branches of the trees.

INQUEST ON THE BODY OF PHILIP HAHN.

VERDICT OF THE JURY-JOSEPH NOR-WOOD HELD FOR TRIAL. WOOD HELD FOR TRIAL.
Yesterday morning Acting Coroner Dr. J. F.
Hartigan held an inquest on the body of Philip Hahn, who died Sunday from the effects of a blow inflicted by a man named Joseph Norwood. The following jury were summoned; Dorsey Clagett, Kinsey Brewer, John Miller, G. W. Drew, C. M. Lyons, Jas.T. Rudd, Jacob S. Redman, J. B. Hill, nas Berry, E. Jackson, John Scott and R. H.

The first witness called was Mr. George Smith He stated that the deceased (Philip H. Hahn, jr.) came to him Sunday morning, between 12 and 2 clock, and awoke him. This was at the corner of Uhio avenue and Thirteen-and-a-half street northwest. He told him he was killed, and asked a share of his bed; that he had been hit with a boot-tree. He said that Joe Norwood had struck him. Between 8 and 4 o'clock he got worse, and asked witness to get a doctor: that he was dving. and those were the last words he spoke. He tossed about on the floor very much and breathed very heavily. When witness got up in the morning he tried to wake the deceased, but he could not; then went for a policeman. This was about 7 o'clock on Sunday morning. After Dr. Bulkley arrived Sergeant Acton had Hahn taken to the station-house, and from there he was taken to Providence hospital.

he was called to see the injured man on Sunday morning, and found him very seriously injured; saw him again at the station-house between 11 and 12 o'clock of Sunday forenoon, and advised that other surgeons be summoned, as he thought the man would die; was present at the post mortem: the fracture extended from the base to the top of the skull, underneath which and directly over the brain laid an immense mass of blood. This was caused by the blow which was the cause of death. An operation would have been doubtful in any event; there would have been but little regarded as dying when taken in.

Sergeant Joseph Acton testified that about 8:30 'clock Sunday morning found deceased at Mrs. Hasgow's, as described by Dr. Bulkley, and removed him to the station. Between 11 and 11:30 'clock Sunday morning he arrested Norwood. who stated, while dressing himself, that Hahn had come to his shop and abused him, and that he had struck him and knocked him down, and that he had hit deceased with the clamps, pointing to the clamps then in the room. YESTERDAY. Yesterday evening a meeting was held at the residence of Mr. Columbus Alexander, in this city of the creditors of Jay Cooke & Co. living in the District of Columbia. There were nearly twenty present, and from a number of others Mr. Alexander received letters, empowering him to act in their stead. The main object of the meet-ing was to agree upon some definite plan for ction against the firm of Jay Cooke & Co. in the solved hereafter to act as a unit; to employ competent counsel; to instruct him to take immerate in the expense, and to have, as far as pos sible, a complete sifting of the causes of the fail-ure and subsequent action on the part of the firm. The creditors complained that the trustee has not pushed the collection of good claims as he might, without bringing suits for the recovery of money due the firm. It was also claimed that a diet. lend could and ought to have been paid, and that the trustee now has a large amount of money on hand, drawing interest in trust companies. The creditors were realous in advocating action to expose the real condition of the firm,

THE DOG FIGHT. HOW THE POLICE INTERRUPTED THE

SPORT-THE BOYS COME HOME DIS-GUSTED. Shortly after the dog fight at Rosslyn, which took place a few weeks ago, and at which Balti-more was well represented by the admirers of this sport, a discussion arose between the visitors om the Monumental City and those of this place as to the merits of the successful "purp," and his ability to cope with one from their city that could be named. This talk had the appearance of business, and the opportunity was embraced by those flushed with the victory of the day to get another match for their dog. Consequently when the discussion was about ripe the proposition was made to them to name a dog, not to exceed a certain weight, for $190 a side. They gave the challenge in a somewhat bravado spirit, but the gauntlet was so promptly picked up that it had the effect of silencing their enthusiasm. However, the match was made, and yesterday named as the day for the fight, and Fox's Ferry, opposite Alexandria, Va., and on the Maryland and District line, as the ground for the contest-It was arranged that those desiring to witness the sport should leave here on the 2 o'clock ferryoat, and at that hour probably two hundred nersons were en route for the grounds. On arriving at Alexandria they were joined by a goodly num ber, and all crossed the river.

Everything was got in readiness for the fight, but those who had traveled from far or near to witness it were to be doomed to disappo for just before the dogs were pitted, Lieut. Austin, with a force of policemen, appeared on the scene, quickly followed by Sergeant Redway and six mounted men, which was the signal for the fight to cease. Some proposed to step out into Maryland and let the sport continue, but to their surprise the men found that Lieut. Austin possessed a paper from the Governor of the State appointing himself and men deputy sheriffs to act r the county.

Finding matters becoming somewhat complicated and all prospects of the fight gone, most of the party recrossed the ferry to Alexandria. There were some, however, pretty well under the fluence, and as the dog fight had been they made an attempt to get up a general melee among the crowd, but the prompt action of the police put a quietus on the affair and arrested the wing for being drunk and disorderly: James Hogan, Wm. Smith, John Fox, (proprietor of the restaurant at the terry.) John A. Nightingale and John Jones. They were brought to the city. confined in the Eighth precinct station and will have a hearing in the Police Court to-day.

A few days before the time set for the fight Major Richards received information that it was n the tapls, and the location of the ground. He letermined, if possible, to checkmate the parties and prevent its occurrence. The authorities of Maryland were consulted, and the power given to the officers sent from this city to make arrest should the owners of the dogs attempt to fight them in the State. To Lieutenant Austin, of the Eighth precinct, was assigned the duty of breaking up the assemblage and preventing the nght. He concluded to divide his men into two squads. One, consisting of Sergeant Redway and six officers, mounted, were sent round by the road. while the Lieutenant in person, accompanied by Sergeants Pierce, Botler, Hollinburger and sixteen men, went by the river. The Lieutenant procured a steam-launch at the navy yard, and the esptain of the watch, O'Key, who was on duty at the yard, accompanied them The mounted police came over the hill in sight first, and while witnessing their approach the lieutenant and his squad effected a landing and came up from the river. The sudden and unex-pected arrival of so much authority quickly and conclusively settled all prospects of the continuance of the fight. One of the party, arrested for disorderly conduct, named Wm. Smith, jumped everboard from the launch while homeward bound, and was rescued with some difficulty and rought to the city with the other prisoners. The Baltimore party took their dog and went home last night, and for the present all prospects of a fight are at an end. It is reported that they were exceedingly happy over the interruption by the police, as their dog's chances for success were very poor, he having in his training sprained one of his forelegs, which was badly swollen and full

NIGHT SCHOOL. The Young Men's Christian Association, among all its excellent and well-timed devices to adance the moral and intellectual culture of young people within the radius of their influnce, have hardly conceived a better idea than the establishment of their night school, where those unable to attend day school can obtain the advantages of a thorough education. It was opened last evening, and with every augury of doing a good work for the winter months.

Thorough and competent instructors are proided. The branches taught include Greek and Latin for beginners, and those advanced in the classics, French, German, mathematics, English grammar, physical geography, phonography, history and vocal music. There is still an oppor-tunity for those who wish to join the classes.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE NATIONAL THEATRE. Mr. Manager Saville returned to the city on Saturday from New York, where he has been for some time making arrangements for the coming season at the National Theatre. In the mean ime, and during the summer months, his theatre has been undergoing a thorough rehabilitation so that at the opening in October he will be able to present to the citizens of Washington one of the most cosy and comfortable, as well as one of the most besutiful, theatres in the country. The beating apparatus has been improved by an additional boiler, and in consequence a uniform tem-perature maintained, comfortable at all seasons. Improved ventilation has also been secured, avoiding draughts, making the atmosphere at all times thoroughly enjoyable and healthful. The acoustic properties of the theatre have always been good, but these have received additional atention, which will make it the very finest in the country in this regard.

The lobbies, one of the most agreeable features of the National, have been redecorated through-out, and the auditorium will be freshened and brightened by the painter's art. The orchestra, as it has always been, will be first-class, with the addition of several eminent musicians from the principal theatres of New York. Manager Saville is determined to make this worth coming to hear, which, he says, is but due to the musical cultivation of a Washington While in New York Manager Saville, with characteristic energy, and regardless of expense, succeeded in securing for the coming season a brilliant galaxy of varied talent, which will be introduced at the National in rapid succession making this, as he promises, the most successful and brilliant season of his management as far as the superiority and excellence of the entertain ments are concerned. The public will do the rest, as they are quick to reciprocate good will and a well-directed effort to please. The theatre will open on Monday evening October 5, with the great tragedienne, Janauschek, with her own company of selected artists, drilled and educated to the perfect representa-tion of her own peculiar repertoire. Janauschek returns to Washington after a year of rest and study in Europe, and will appear to her many ad-mirers in her characteristic roles of Deborah, Phedre, Medea, Lady Dedlock and Lady Macbeth, in all of which careful study, it is presumed, will give her additional power. After Janauschek comes the carefully chosen and excellent company from the Union Square theatre, New York; pronounced by the press the most powerful and effective combination that has ever been brought together in that city. This company will embrace such actors as Charles R. Thorn, the leading man; Mr. Stuart Hobson omedian; Mr. Arnott, Mr. Montgomery, and others; with the actresses Miss Rose Eytinge, Miss Kate Claxton, Marie Wilkins and Emily Mestteyer, each one in herself a bright, particu-lar star. "They will produce "Lod Astray" and "Geneva Cross;" these two plays having carried through the entire season in New York, at the Union Square, with enormous profit to the management and to the increased reputation of the

To succeed these comes the arch and piquant Mile. Aimee with her unequalled French opera bouffe company, and once more we shall have the inimitable fun of La Grande Duchesse, the rollicking humor of Barbe-Bleue, and the pretty pathos of La Perishole, et touts les autres.

Mr. Frank Mayo, who has made himself famous by his truthful impersonation of Davy Crockett, pronounced by critics to be only equaled by Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle. Strakosch's Grand Italian Opera Company, with the new and brilliant young American prima donna, M'lle Emma Albani. This company embraces more talent, it is said, than any combina ion heretofore made by the great impressario and will produce a series of operas in a style and finish never before presented in Washington. M'lle Albani is a talented young American ar tiste, by birth a French Canadian, and belongs to the old Acadian family "La Jennesse," imme ized in Longfellow's "Evangeline." being a skilled musician, recognized her talents in childhood, and determined to afford her a thou ough musical education. After a short residence in Albany, New York, she was placed for two ears under the tuition of the famous Duorez, in Paris. The great tenor then sent her to the renowned maestro, Lamperti, at Milan, who signifieantly remarked: "Ah! there is a fortune in that little throat!" After several years of hard study, and when with great difficulty her scruples and objections to the stage had been overcome, Lam perti brought her out in opera at Messina. Her success was immediate and permanent. At Malta, and the principal opera houses of Italy, her tri-umph was continued, and her debut in London at once made her a sterling favorite with the Eng lish public. During the last seasons at Cover Garden and St. Petersburg her name was placed side by side with the Diva, Patti. Her reperioire is very extensive and varied. Under the direction of Mesers. Strakosch she makes her debut in America, in the immediate coming season, for though American by birth, she has never yet an peared before an audience in this country. The pure beauty of her voice, the chaste elegance of her style, and the great personal charm of her presence, will doubtless produce as powerfal an effect in her native land as hitherto in Europe. Madame Ristori, the rival of the great Rachel and the most eminent tragedienne in the world to-day in her grand historic impersonations of Elizabeth, Marie Antoinette, Phedre and others This will be the last appearance of Elstori, and the opportunity to see her will not be omitted by those who admire her genius as an artiste, and esteem the nobility of her high, pure wemanhood. Edwin Adams, the most promising young tragedian on the stage, who will appear in round of his most prominent Shakspearean cha The above programme, interspersed with pan tomime and speciacle, will present a series of en-tertainments which for brilliancy, interest and variety has never before been seen in the capital city, and cannot be surpassed on the stage of any theatre in the land. Manager Saville's well known taste and liberality in stage settings and embellishments, as-sisted by his able corps of artists and artisans, is a sufficient guarantee that the coming season will be unequaled in brilliancy, and we feel confident that his unwearied efforts to make the National one of the first theatres in the country will mee with its proper reward in the generous patronage of an appreciative and liberal public.

FORD'S OPERA-HOUSE. The largest andience of the season thus far was a attendance at Ford's opera-house last night. The production of the exciting drama of "Marked for Life" was a complete success. As the curtain rolled down on its conspicuous scenes mcore after encore were demanded, and the thrilling tableaux had to be repeated. In the tourth scene, in which a death struggle onsu and a leap was made into a cataract, whose dashing turbulence was manifest in a rain storm of real water, the applause was genuine. Mr. France, as Skid, a darkey true as steel, exhibited a fine conception of the requirements of his role, and acted throughout with requisite force and becoming taste. Sing Foo, the "Heathen Chinee," found in Mr. G. W. Denham an adequate repre sentative, and he carned the "roars of laughter" following a most ludierous impersonation. Jack ld want no better counterpart as a villain than the interpretation given by Mr. M. M. Price. In Mr. H. Harris, Willis Harkins had an excellent representation, and sweet Dora Whitty's character was well filled by sweeter Emma Stockman. We have much confidence in eting that "Marked for Life" will have a

A WHITE HEIRESS ELOYES WITH A NEORO. The Philadelphia All-Day City Item of Sunday contains the following: "The staid, quiet portion of Bucks county known as Warminster township is just now greatly excited over a strange elope-ment. It seems that about a year since a fancy colored man, named Joe Palmer, came to War minster, and engaged with Mr. John Tho one of the aristocratic citizens, as a man-of-allwork. While thus employed it was noticed that he was quite intimate with Miss Annie Thomp-son, the beautiful, refined and accomplished daughter of his employer.

"Shortly afterward Palmer was taken ill, and Miss Thompson attended to him until the family prevented it by having him removed eisewhere. But it seems that Miss Thompson's visits were clandestinely continued to him. After his convalescence it is reported that Palmer said he would be even with the Thompsons for sending him away from their residence during his ill

"Miss Thompson's father and mother did all they could to prevent any further intimacy between their daughter and Palmer, and she seem ingly consented completely to their wishes. But neither they nor the community were prepared for the denouement which has taken place. for the denouement which has taken place.

"A day or two since Joo Palmer stated to various persons that he was going West, and was noticed making extensive preparations. About the same time Miss Thompson persuaded her mother to allow a visit to a neighboring township to make some purchases. She went instead to the railroad depot, and, boarding the Philadelphia train, net Falmer at the next station.

"As the young lady did not return at the time she informed her mother she would a search was instituted and the truth learned. The terribly distracted parent at once went to Philadelphia, but although a most persistent search was made nothing of the couple could be learned further than that Palmer was seen in the neighborhood of the hay market, at Seventh and Columbia avenue, the day subsequent to the elopement.

"Miss Thompson is a great heires, and has always been held in the highest esteem by people of Warminster. Her parents are heartbroken at her rash act. Further endeavors have been made for her recovery, but no traces of the unfortunate girl have been discovered. The detectives report that she is not in Philadelphia, and are now endeavoring to ascertain whether she is in New York.

"Not Very Well."

A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often apply described by the phrase, "Not very well." This feeling availity arises from a dendency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prejude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter. Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay.
